The Motherfucking Koolha

HALLOWEEN ISSUE

A New Era

oh shit there is new one

Handie Samberg

Hi, it's me, new Koala editor and permanent rock in the shoe of anyone that thought we would stop just because a little global pandemic has sequestered everyone in their dorms and homes. My name is Handie Samberg, well that's what they call me anyways. You may have seen my great articles such as (insert something about the frats being scum fucks) or (insert rewritten school email that is a band-aid on a serious situation). Oh, weren't those great knee slappers? But I'm here now and I'm happy to have the opportunity to make all of you amazing slackers, degenerates, and confused sorority girls laugh. With the introduction out of the way I must say this is one crazy fucking October. A few days ago, the Taliban endorsed Trump for president, a fly landed on a cum rag of a man's head, I started looking into buying $400 headphones, and I'm pretty sure it's ok to kidnap a governor now as long as it's a citizen arrest. And I know we should all be strung out on molly and alcohol come the end of this month, but sadly due to freshmen and greek life not understanding what "stay at home" means, the rest of us get to wear our slutty Winnie-the-Pooh costumes at home. If any of you need to contact me, I will be building up my alcohol collection for November 3rd when Shit Show 2: Electric Boogaloo will take place. Here is a fun drinking game for that night: every time you say, "oh fuck" or you hear someone say, "holy shit, shut the fuck up!" take a shot. If the rules are followed correctly you can come say "hi" to me at Alvarado Medical Center Emergency Room. Until our meet cute with saline drips in our arms and vomit buckets next to our beds, I bid all of you a good fucking day.

Pumpkin Porn

Buster Hymen

One chilly fall night, I was alone with my boyfriend, bored. So as any sane girlfriend would do I suggested we watch porn, possibly learn some new moves. After scrolling through pages of boring fuckades I found the best thing to happen in the porn industry: PUMPKIN PORN.

At first I was hesitant, but it was so different, fresh compared to all of the other violent videos. I was quickly bewitched. I know no one watches porn for the plot, but the story was magnificent. A daring stepbrother meticulously gutted and carved a pumpkin. He inserted his dick into the pumpkin and mischievously presented the squash to his stepsister. In shock, the stepsister stuck her hand into the pumpkin, grasped the dick, and proceeded to jerk off her step brother while standing in the middle of the kitchen next to their mother. The story was impeccable, absolutely zero flaws!

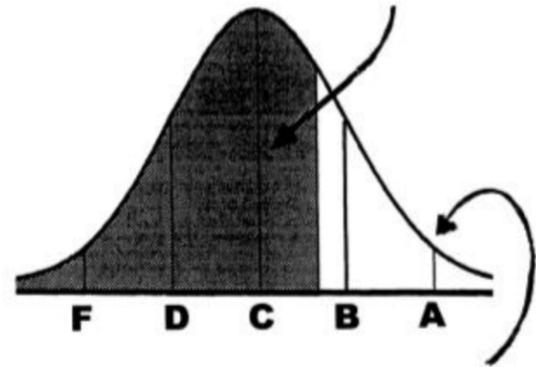

After the video, my boyfriend and I exchanged that knowing look and I excused myself to the bathroom. Moments later I emerged, ass first, displaying my freshly painted orange ass. To my pleasure he chuckled and carved me for an hour. I left that night on the shakiest sex legs of my entire life.

I've taken this new found fetish to extremes this fall: heads inside of pumpkins to be safe from corona, pumpkin vines to restrain. I get hornier with every PSL I drink and pumpkin pie I devour. I can feel the spice taking over my body, controlling every emotion. My skin has begun turning orange, my hair a curly green. Surrender all of your pumpkin porn to your pumpkin queen.

Celebrating the First Amendment Right to Free Speech

Have You Heard the News?

Handie Samberg

This month started out with a maximum amount of shit. Just total bonkers shit. But there is one good thing to come as of last month: Not this month, this month is a shit show--but last month Pope Francis announced that being gay is cool. So cool that all catholic families should be ok with your sons or daughters hooking up with any gender they want. But this is all a distraction from what is really going on. From not too subtle context clues I can tell everyone that our boy, Pope Francis, is gay for God.

And I mean really gay. Like homie is staying up all hours of the night waiting for God to call him on the landline. And guess what, God does! Pope Francis is God's vessel on earth (for the Catholics). Let me be very clear with what I mean by Pope Francis is gay. Pope Francis is waiting out back of a Ruby Tuesday's for God to get off from his shift so they can both jump in God's Ford pickup, and drive to the renovated disco hall that is now a drum and bass club to drink tequila shots and give each other head in the bathroom. This is true love.

And the best part is that Pope Francis is proud to be in a pansexual poly relationship. Time and time again the Catholic Church has discussed how God is made up of three parts: God, Jesus Christ, and The Holy Spirit. God also takes any form "He" sees fit to spread his message. Remember the burning bush? And on top of that, Pope Francis tells all 1.2 billion Catholics that God loves all. Pope Francis isn't a jealous lover. He is caring and gentle, and constantly wears a Hush by Lovense three-speed-bluetooth-controlled buttplug that only God has the ability to turn off.

And to add the liberal man that he is, the Pope recently came out as being a commie anticapitalist with saying that rampant capitalism will in no way heal the world during a global pandemic. What is gayer than that? The point that I am trying to make here that our boy, Jorge Mario Bergoglio, a.k.a the gayest man in all of Vatican City, a.k.a Pope Francis, will be waving his rainbow ten-inch long dildo proudly at the next Folsom Street Fest in San Francisco. The man is just waiting to burst heels first out of the closet. He has been modest his entire time sitting in the Pope seat, but honey, eventually that white robe needs to come off. Elton John hasn't ever looked as fabulous compared to the sequenced robe that Pope Francis hides under that white sheet his bishops call clothing.

So let's all take a breather from the rampant corruption of the U.S. election system and raging deadly disease that has locked us in our homes to thank the Pope for saying it's ok to be gay and welcome him into our LGBTQA+ community with open arms. Plus we may get a holy threesome out of it.

Me getting euthanized

Follow that money BB

Handie Samberg

So, it's an election year and I think for many of you undergrads it's either the first or second time voting. Voting is an amazing privilege that we get to have, but it's hard to sometimes understand what to vote for when it comes to laws. There are a lot of propositions on the ballot with confusing names and misleading commercials. The best way to tell is follow the money, and by that I mean look at which old white racist piece of shit is giving money to make poor people's lives suck more than they already do! Listen people it's not fucking rocket science.

Let's take proposition 21 for a spin. It's pretty cut and dry: landlords can't raise rent prices for three years after the last tenet (who has lived there for a certain amount of time) has moved out. A lot of us rent. Housing is expensive and cramming ourselves in a barely up to code house with a landlord that will barely give a shit to fix the air conditioning, but low and behold if there is much as a cunt hair out of place once someone moves out, say bye-bye to that safety deposit fucko. Let me just be clear that landlords, for the most part, are rich white people that don't give two fucks and own half the fucking houses on a block. This is their African safari hunting money. This is the reason why we can't have nice things. Any time they raise them its just to fuck someone over. Prop 21 won't allow this. So now it's time to look at the money.

Yes on prop 21 is being funded mostly by the AIDS Health-care Foundation and a small contribution by the California Nurses Association. In total they have put $24,013,727.12. sounds like a good chunk of money. Now let's have a drum role for scum fuck assholes coming in at a total of "fuck you give us your money you dumb poor people" at a whopping $41,1494,558.63. That's almost double what AIDs and nursing advocates can give. And who are those douche-nozzles that are giving all that money: Essex Property Trust, Inc., and Affiliated Entities. These people own 250 apartment complexes, aggregating 60,570 apartment units. (Thank Wikipedia for those numbers. I will never give you five dollars. I need it for pitch.)

Now my dear readers who would you rather listen to the people trying to support the sick and dying, or the literal conglomerate that is owned by George M. Marcus, a man with a net worth of $1.2 billion. Listen I won't tell you how to vote, but I will question you for it. And make fun of you. And possibly ask how you like being pussied whipped: by the KKK or the Police. The point here is to not make anyone feel bad. The point is to understand that people with much more money and much less empathy really do not give a shit about the general public. Listen BB I understand it's hard. You have long work days and Jimmy just doesn't know how to eat your ass out. It sucks, I get it. What is a man who can't eat ass? What is the point of even keeping him around? That's what it's like when you don't understand who is funding legislation: you're a man that doesn't know how to eat ass, and that's horrible. No, don't be that. Learn to eat ass, and pay attention to where the money comes from. No Gods, No Masters BB.

Letter From SDSU's Own Greedy Munchkin

Little Dybuk

Dear SDSU Community,

In the past several weeks, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has outlined several scenarios for state public health officials related to a COVID-19 vaccine. Indicators suggest that there is a possibility that we may have such a vaccine available before the end of the calendar year. That is super cool and all, but we're still really holding out for an online Spring Semester.

After speaking to our stakeholders (and only our stakeholders), we have decided that to make the most money off of our students we will continue with online instruction. We have realized that charging students for facilities they cannot use and yearly events that will no longer happen is seriously profitable.

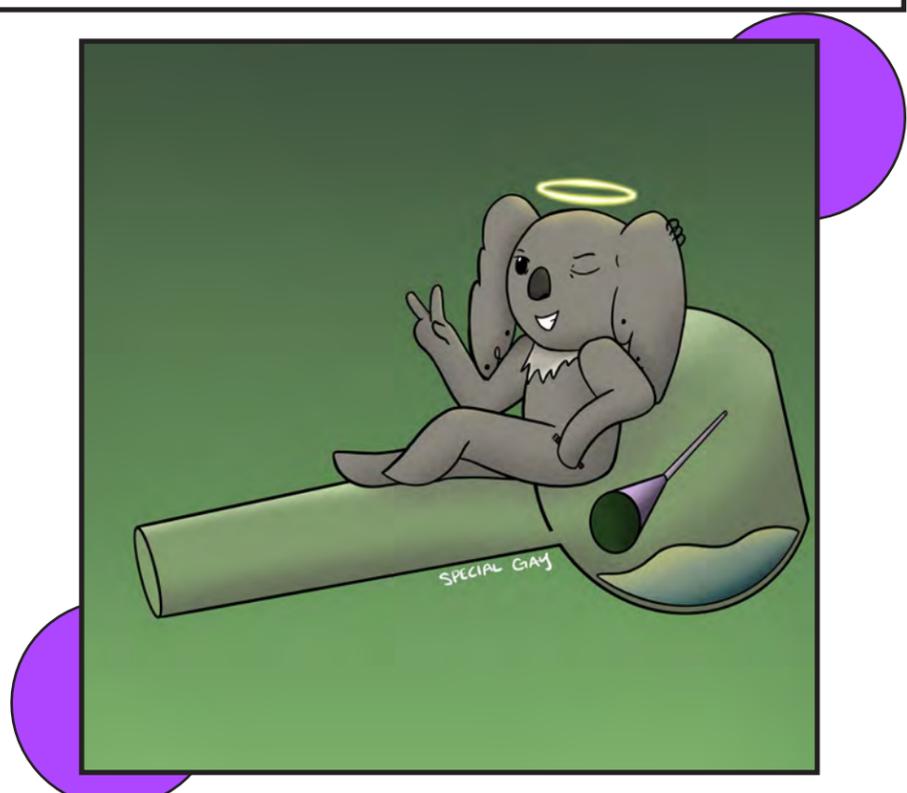

Given our ongoing and frankly terrible management of the pandemic, we understand that you may be blaming us (which is totally unfair). Did we know that allowing students to live on campus would be a bad decision for public health? Yes. But, like, how were we supposed to know that even if we enforced social distancing rules in the dorms, a bunch of 18 year olds would just go to SDSU-affiliated fraternity organizations and get COVID there? It's not like we've been working with this demographic for years and know exactly where every on-campus outbreak has spread. Bringing thousands of teenagers from all over the country to campus during a global pandemic was our only option :)

It would be a super bad idea to send everyone home now so we're just going to put all the kids who have COVID in isolation dorms as the virus exponentially spreads to everyone in the College Area. When we inevitably run out of room, we will be sending the excess students to live in the unfinished housing projects at our Mission Valley Funding Blackhole. Yes, we will be charging them extra. The view from the scaffolding is fantastic!

If you are wondering, yes, we absolutely knew this was going to happen. We just can't get our grubby wubby widdle hands off those sexy freshmen pockets baybey.

More information regarding our planning for spring is to come.

The Motherfucking Koala's Election Day Drinking Game

So it's that time when one old white man is going to argue with another old white man, and we get to decide which one is going to slowly kill themselves while trying to lead the home of the drunk and disorderly that we call the USA. In times like this I encourage all of us in college (and faculty because I know you professors love to read this as much as Stacey and Chad do) to go vote.

I also encourage all you to drink (especially you professors because your day job doesn't make you want to already). In that pursuit the Koala has engineered the biggest drinking game we could think of. If you vote blue or red, we guarantee you won't be able to know the election results until the next day. Enjoy the blackout and drink as responsibly as Professor Rapp* would, which is not that much.

Take a swig if...

Anytime a correspondent says that this is the most important election in years

"it's still early"

"polls are about to close"

A correspondent insults trump

If the mail in ballots are mentioned

"any moment"

Mention of battle ground states importance

5 second pull if...

If trump sends out a tweet

If a swing state goes the other way

If a state changes color from '16

Any time a senator seat win is announced

Take a shot if...

If friends or family start fighting with each other (two if it's you who is in the fight, three if you instigated)

If trump calls the vote early

An independent gets 5% of the vote

An incumbent wins a senate seat

Finish the bottle...

Someone wins

(Drink 2 bottles if it's Trump, you'll need it)

November 4th Bonus Round

take a shot if someone is crying in class or a professor mentions the results

Professors, take 1 shot for every student that skips zoom class

*The koala does not encourage anyone to ever try and keep up with Professor Rapp's drinking ability. Allegedly he once downed an entire whiskey bottle and then proceeded to polish off a keg. Ask him about it.

To the rat living in the walls of my house

Lilo and Bitch

Hey neighbor! I'm Lilo and Bitch, I live on the second floor in the room that smells like someone's trying just a liiittle bit too hard to mask the smell of weed oozing from the cracks of the door. I noticed that you recently moved into the neighborhood, aka my house, and I just wanted to officially welcome you to my poppin' crib. It's not my house, per se, but I fuck the the landlord so I basically do whatever the fuck I want and pay for it in blowjobs. My family is very appreciative. Since you're new, I thought I'd let you know about your new roommates, since there's quite a few of us that live here and it's in your best interest that you know who to avoid.

My parents are pretty normal but I know my dad has an obsession with you. I know he's been setting up his Nest camera up at night and buying a fuck ton of rat traps from Amazon to try and deter you from entering our home. If anything, he's just ruining your sexy time with your rat partner. But don't let his actions speak for the rest of us. You've made things really interesting around here and I couldn't ask for anything more in the middle of a pandemic and the world's largest clown circus, also known as US politics.

Meanwhile, I have a crazy aunt that doesn't believe in the pandemic so she hosts daily Tai Chi in our garage to a bunch of elderly japanese men without masks to really stick it to the liberals. She does that around 6:30 in the morning so as long as you stay out of the way for about an hour, everyone would have gotten their fix of that sweet auntie pussy and waddle home with their tails between their legs. Sometimes some cuck comes in and participates in Tai Chi. He looks like he's in a chastity belt so all he can do is enjoy the view, I suppose. I think what surprised him the most was seeing a dripping pussy the first time he stayed for the weekly orgy. It was almost like he's never seen a wet pussy in his life... But once everything's over he just leaves like everyone else. What an odd fellow.

There's also my alcoholic sister that lives down the hall. She's turning 30 pretty soon and also a nurse, so she often comes home from work and immediately shotguns a few PBRs, probably to remind herself of her high school days, when it was a simpler time. After drinking a bag of Franzia and waiting for the buzz to settle in, she'll inject a bit of weed directly into her bloodstream and eventually pass out, begging for the sweet release of death. Then she does it all again in the morning and makes $95,000 a year. She's my hero.

As for me, I'm pretty tame. Like any college student, I'm on anywhere between 2-5 drugs at a time, usually weed, nicotine, and addy from 9am-3:30pm. After getting home from work at around 9pm, I'll stick to the molly, weed, and nic, the three-punch combo -- or as I like to call, The Death Wish. But if death chooses to elude me for yet another day, I'm your average college student working a part time job just trying their best. If you want, you can come sesh with me anytime I'm not at work or attending a class.

So that's pretty much it; we are your roommates. I hope you can grow to like us at least a little bit but I can also completely understand if you hate every single one of us with a dying passion and hope for the day that we all die from something that has yet to be crossed off the 2020 bingo board.

does Kate sessions personally know the impact her park has had on the white women of SDSu?

I want Jacinda from Alpha Gam to rub her fingers on my knee cap.

Freshman year, my roommate bought a fish and one day I came back from class and she was using my BOWL THAT I EAT OUT OF AND MY CUP THAT I DRINK OUT OF TO CLEAN HER FISH TANK. It haunts me to this day because I don't know how many times she did it before I caught her...

Was fucking this guy and he apparently doesn't know anatomy and shoved his dick up my asshole (THAT SHIT HURTS SO BAD WHY WOULD ANYONE DO THAT) then had the audacity to say women's anatomy is flawed. I can push a whole ass child out of my vagina all your dick can do is get hard anytime you see tits. Shut up Chad.

maybe if i didn't spend so much time trying to come up with a funny personal that would get in the paper, i'd actually get the education im putting myself into penis-pounding debt for

I bought a 500 gaming chair bc it was pink, I'm not okay

Fuck u scott

my roomie had a seizure bcuz she was so stressed. f*ck this semester

Will someone please tell State boys if you're only snapping a girl you're losing Fuck you to the soft headed morons that got together in large swaths and got in-person instruction ruined for the rest of us. Fuck you, smooth brains.

Some say the freshman's cried can be heard through the long hours of the night as they realize COVID didn't ruin their first year... they did

Online classes are literal ass I'm not learning anything and we will probably get kicked off campus from the freshmen partying. It's all fine shoutout to the random boy at phi psi that randomly kissed me and gave me Covid

I miss that psycho Christian dude who would stir shit up and get into big circle arguments in front of East Commons.

Anyone know where I can find a bitch to poop on my chest in these trying times?

To all of you who still don't wear masks and don't social distance: fck you! I just wanna be able to walk for graduation and y'all ruining that dream of mine!

A major fuck you to the bird that shit on my boob while I was watching a fight break out in front of the ARC.

To my psych professor who decided to pre-record all of her lectures with her obnoxious birds in the same room, thank you for making online classes a whole lot worse

how long do you think it will take for the freshmen to start submitting thirst personals about rapp

i'm one bored evening away from making a tinder account and setting the age to 50+ and having my bio read "show me what that tongue do" with my number attached and then starting a twitter where i make a thread of all the horny dad videos for people to laugh at

JESUS FUCKING CHRIST I FUCKING HAT MY ROOMATES - me living in my parents house

dear fruit flies at blvd, FUCK YOU STUPID CUNTS. IF I EVER FIND YOU IN MY TOMATO SOUP AGAIN IM ENDING IT
