New Year, New Me

Welcome back to campus, and more importantly, welcome back to the Koala. I'm Sinus Baby, and even though I'm the new Editor In Chief of this "paper", I'm just like everyone else. I've spent the last of my Christmas cash from Grandma at the dispo and ALL my new undies are ruined. But unlike everyone else, I haven't failed on my resolutions yet. See, I've personally avoided that problem entirely by doing the opposite of working on myself. I've been dedicating this past month to being an insufferable cunt, and becoming the new editor of the Koala has helped. Could my personal arc also mark a new direction for the Koala as an organization?

Now, I know it may not seem to be the case, but we do have the capacity to be at least a little cuntier. Between you and me, our members are a little too buddy-buddy. What if we were less like friends, and more like...sisters. Who really, really hate each other, but come together to do some charity. You know, like a sorority? Sororities: love 'em or hate 'em, they sure have some great ideas for money-grabs.

Of course, we still wouldn't play by the same rules as Greek life. During our Kθala Fall 22' Rush, we promise we won't tell you you'll look better with a balayage. We won't make you beg your floor Groupme for a pair of black strappy platform sandals in a size 7.5. We will, however, incorporate the part where we charge reprimand you for not having unwavering loyalty to our ~~schedule~~ sisterhood.

Don't worry babes, the bid is still an elusive prize. You're obviously gonna have to schmooze us and pay dues, which means you can weaponize the phrase "somebody didn't get a bid!" in YikYak and TikTok comment sections. Yes, you'll still be doing our dirty work, but that kind of lines up with the sorority shit already. Philanthropy, making and passing out newspapers for free, what's the difference? Maybe we'll even incorporate a "Koala Marathon" for distro. That's right, once we're down to the last stack, we'll make you auction off papers on your IG story, and have your friends and family Venmo to get their name in those little bubbles. Thanks for the $5, bestie!

But ah, a girl can dream. We started out in a frat basement, and there's no way we're going back to one. The Koala's outgrown that - we use garages now. Besides, I don't think any frat would find any of us fuckable...at least not fuckable enough to be a top house (and let's be honest—that's the only way to the top). Maybe the business frat, but we all know that's no way to climb the social ladder.

XOXO,

Sinus Baby

Girl's Night Out

Eaterout

One cloudy Saturday night I arrived at what can only be described as the house party of the century. The music was loud, the house was packed, and I could already hear the sirens of campus police coming down the block...in actuality, it was completely empty upon my friends and I's fashionably late arrival.

What is one to do when you are part of the hottest group of people in the room? The answer is always clear: hop on aux and play the most obnoxious, queer-coded music known to man. (Rule IX of the Pretty Privilege Handbook, look it up).

Sorry to the host's roommates who immediately deserted their own home the second "CUM" by Brooke Candy started blasting from the makeshift DJ stand. One of the guys muttered, "it's girl's night, bro" as they left, and I felt an odd sense of pride surrounding my single greatest contribution to the feminist movement.

Luckily, more people started to show up just as I was starting to peak off of my absolutely rancid concoction of lemonade and vodka, which I had stored rather discreetly in a repurposed Pepsi bottle. Later, we congregated in the backyard to play a game of Musical Flip Cup that I was peer-pressured into like the star of a D.A.R.E. awareness clip.

A fun fact about me? I'm a compulsive cheater, and my specialty is drinking games. The trick is to pretend to fill your cup, do a few real flips, then phone it in when no one's looking. Top five, bitch. I'm a big-league player.

I thought I wasn't that drunk when we were getting ready to leave until the entire continent of Europe showed up at the doorstep whereupon I was convinced I was having an alcohol-induced psychotic break. 30+ foreign exchange students can teach you a lot about yourself. The moral of the story? Give me some warm beer and I can speak fluent French.

Holiday Werk Party Review

Clifford the BIG

Scheduling me to close the night of the annual work party that started at 8 pm sent a pretty clear message... But do you really think I give a fuck? Now, me pulling up to my 35 year old co-workers downtown apartment 5 hours late didn't seem like the best idea, but for some reason, it didn't feel like the worst either. Entering his place, the vibe was immediately caught: the only people in attendance were the fully grown shift and general managers. And they were FUCKED up. So fucked up that, in retrospect, I could have asked for a raise and they probably would have given it to me. Instead, I took 4 shots. Classic me.

After about 20 minutes the owner of the apartment made an announcement: his girlfriend is tired and we all have to leave.

BUT he wasn't gonna leave us on the curb like a mass of drunk minimum wage employees. No no no. INSTEAD we were all going to go out for a night on the town. My next thought hit me immediately--YAAAS. My next thought hit me about 2 minutes later--I'm not 21. At this point I was about ready to steal some of his cutlery and order an Uber home, but my shift manager had different plans. He rushed to his bedroom and tossed me his old ID. An ID that expired in 2016 and said I was 32 years old. Needless to say, I was ready to serve.

I blacked out for a fair bit of the next hour, but I do have little snippets of memories-- the bouncer at the first bar holding my ID for a good 45 seconds with an extremely confused look on his face (probably because he had just let in the REAL owner of the ID seconds prior). An assistant general manager straight chugging a giant bottle of Hornitos tequila on the sidewalk as a cop car drove by. The 7/11 clerk's horrified face as we walked up to the cashier asking for 6 vapes.

At around 1:30, I'd had just about enough drunken managerial twerking to last me a lifetime... But as I was making my exit, the bottle of Hornitos was looking mighty tasty. So I did what any underpaid college student working in food service should do: I stole from my higher ups. I still haven't taken even one sip from that bottle. Nope! It stays in my freezer. As a trophy, a reminder, a promise. It's also just fucking gross.

5/5 untouched tequila bottles.

New COVID Variant Surges, President... Reacts

John MulBangMe

Welcome to the Koala Newsroom's COVID Beat, where our top reporters tackle the cold hard facts about this pandemic, thrilled to finally be able to talk about a disease that isn't transmitted through semen. Cases of the newest COVID-19 variant have been rising exponentially. The CDC has named this new variant the "Megatron-after-he-becomes-Galvatron variant". (CDC representatives told us their reasoning was to make something that, quote, "sounded intimidating, but respectfully nodded to proper Transformers canon.")

Koala reporters recently paid a visit to the White House to get a statement from President Joe Biden. Upon asking him about his reaction to this new variant, we were met with pensive silence as he sat in thought. We faced more silence after we clarified to him that yes, COVID is still "a thing." After a few moments, tears welled up in his eyes. In a dramatic fashion, he then buried his head in his arms in front of us, like he was at a nursing home playing Heads Up Seven Up. After we reiterated our question, we heard grumpy little stomps coming from beneath his desk. "It's not fair. STUPID stupid..." we heard him mumble. A secret service member leaned in towards Biden and whispered "Mr. President, remember what the nice lady said about when you get angry. What are 5 things you can see that are the color green?"

Biden throws his computer keyboard at him. He then stands up aggressively, trying to kick his chair behind him. It has wheels, though, so this doesn't work. He then turns and tries to rip it apart with his bare hands.

He can't, so he just tries to push it over. It has wheels, though, so it just rolls away. Biden gets super fucking pissed, so he goes over there and tries to kick it. It has wheels, though, so he slips and slams into the floor. He lies here for a bit, full on sobbing and slamming his fists into the floor. He buries his face into the carpet and screams. He starts throwing his pathetic little body around the room on all fours, like an orangutan who just had a head of cabbage thrown at it by an outraged zookeeper.

A secret service member can be heard saying "Get me Kamala Harris, an iPad with Roblox loaded up, and a Ziploc bag full of xanax" into his collar. The President crashes onto the floor again, this time lying on his side, and starts using his little feet to propel himself around in a pinwheel motion. He starts absolutely kicking the shit out of a nearby bookshelf. Books and trinkets start falling on his balding scalp, so he stands up and starts ripping everything off of the shelves. At this point, secret service members start ushering us out of the room, right as Biden starts punching sad little holes in the drywall. As the doors close behind us, we hear "Stan" by Eminem start blasting from the Oval Office.

In short, the Presidential administration is not happy with the current state of the COVID-19 crisis in our nation. They provided no further comment. Next time on the Koala Newsroom's COVID Beat: where will the CDC turn to next when they run out of Transformers characters to name variants after? We turn to Anthony Fauci, with a bucket of Skylanders figurines.

TAURUS: Scorpio! You need someone to tame your bratty side, and a Scorpio will put you in your place. Get ready to be someone's bitch.

GEMINI: Pisces! You need someone to do drugs with and Pisces already has plenty on hand. You guys could fuck and then go trip balls on some hallucinogens afterwards. Now what's more romantic than that?

CANCER: Taurus! You need head. NOW. Go grab that bull by the horns, and hope that you're the only crab involved in this.

LEO: Libra! You love sycophants, and Libra is looking for the approval they rarely got from their parents.

VIRGO: Aquarius! You're fucking boring. Now go embrace their oviposition kink.

LIBRA: Virgo! You're a fucking mess, let a Virgo clean up your life. If you're lucky, they could help you plan out your classes for next semester too.

SCORPIO: Gemini! You're terrified to get to know someone, and Gemini just wants to fuck and run.

SAGITTARIUS: Everyone! You likely can and absolutely would fuck any sign. Not that you necessarily should, but that won't stop you. Be a slut, do whatever you want!

CAPRICORN: No one! You don't need romance! You don't need anybody! Go be your own girlboss. Get that sex toy you've kept in your bookmarks and go to TOWN.

AQUARIUS: Leo! You're weird, Leo's are fun. Smash some bits together, I'm sure it'll go great.

PISCES: Cancer! Y'all should have sex that ends in you both crying and talking about your exes. Sometimes a good trauma dump can be more satisfying than an actual orgasm.

ALEXA THE APhi

Meet your middle school bully all grown up!

"When I first met Alexa, I thought God! This is one of the worst people I've ever met. But, once I got to know her more, I realized she is actually THE worst person I've ever met!"

- Fellow American Girl Doll, Gabby the Geed

Alexa the APhi is a one-of-a-kind absolute fucking cunt, and not in the gay way. She's a girlboss, she loves pink, and she's a natural blonde. She LOVES giving to charity and she HATES lesbians. She's from a small East Coast town with a median household income of $700,000, best known as the home of several college admissions scandals. She almost got her admission to SDSU rescinded thanks to hundreds of emails from meddling liberals (she said she was sorry...) but her perseverance and parent's donation to the school shone through and she made it in! Now, she is fully committed to academics and Greek life. If you get Alexa as your big, you are going to have so much fun being forced to do cocaine! Don't worry, you won't be able to smell for much longer, so giving Preston the Pike a blowjob won't be so bad anymore.

You too can be like Alexa if you purchase her bundle! It includes: A bottle of Pink Whitney, a poster of Morgan Wallen saying "oopsies!", and Alexa's patent self tanner. Have fun following Alexa on her college journey!

Not only is she a great student, she also stands up for what she believes in and always looks fashionable doing it. Here she is at an anti-mask protest wearing her Princess Polly purple satin top!

Guidance for girls straight from Alexa!

I'm sorry, but APhi already has all of our "diversity pledges" for the semester. You can try again next semester...if you actually have the money to rush! We may donate to charity, but we most certainly are not one. Better luck next year?

ENS Bathroom Review: A Crime of Passion

Ghostwritten By Eaterout

This past Friday, a San Diego State student took the lives of thousands of individuals in a horrific infanticide in a single-stall ENS bathroom. Armed with only a vibrator and a thin—but highly absorbant—tie-dyed towel, I took to campus to murder my partner’s potential children in cold blood.

is confirmed through a series of intricate and scientific tests: the sniff test, the taste test, and the pregnancy test.

4/5 tie-dye towels

We considered our other options before settling on the ENS bathroom, which was conveniently unlocked despite school being virtual. The first thing I noticed about it was the strong antiseptic smell. Despite its sterile scent, the tiled bathroom was dingy, the floor dirty. There was a lonely toilet in the corner of the facility that we avoided engaging with during the crime. The counter was a dull shade of ruby, and seemed like prime real estate. First, we started with me sitting on the counter. I kept slipping off it because, well, it’s not a bed, y’know? Anyways, then he got behind me and I bent over. Let’s just say that by the time we left, the countertop was shiny and slippery, and the air was savory.

My partner adds that “The buzzing of the fluorescent light was really good for my libido. It definitely helped me go the extra mile.” After we were done, he walked me back to my apartment. Honestly, it was a little awkward afterwards.

The Koala firmly advises that all students and faculty avoid fucking in any and all ENS bathrooms until the crime scene

The SDSU Penis Inspection: A History

Pierogita

Penis inspection— a punchline, a middle school joke, a traumatizing experience in the 4th grade bathroom. But did you know it was once a key element of student culture here at SDSU? Penis inspection once served as a way for the student body to view each others' genitals in an academic and non-sexual context. Why would such a practice have been scrubbed from the halls of San Diego State traditions? Let's find out.

Penis inspection began in 1946 as a way for San Diego State students to prove they were not communists (what exactly could be found on one's penis to indicate an affiliation with the communist party is not publicly known). The inspection process and its secret rituals were introduced just after WWII, making it an important tool of McCarthy's red scare. Later, when communism entered her flop era, the penis inspection allowed nursing students to gain hands on experience treating sexually transmitted diseases affecting the student body. In fact, the penis inspections of 1998 led to the discovery of 2 new strains of bacteria resistant chlamydia and gonorrhea exclusive to SDSU.

In the 2010s, penis inspection was phased out as a San Diego State University tradition. Many think this was because of the rise of "PC culture". Perhaps, it was due to the incessant bullying of students who did not comply with a non-consensual inspection of their genitals. The prevailing theory, however, is that penis inspection was phased out due to PenisGate2007. Leaked footage on r/STDSU suggested that pledges of certain fraternities were the subject of forceful penis inspection. Low-ranking pledges would be required to inspect other brothers' genitals with their mouths then describe the taste in order to be initiated as a brother. Touching another individual's penis during inspection is a key violation of the SDSU Penis Inspection Code, and the fraternities involved were brought to swift justice (for once) for their blatant disregard of the rules.

After PenisGate2007 was exposed, penis inspection lost its popularity. No longer will students hear "YOU THERE, DROP TROUGH" shouted throughout East Commons (signaling the commencement of an inspection period). Penis inspection has served many purposes throughout the years, and a recent surge of memes has re-sparked interest in the subject. Do you think this tradition is something SDSU should bring back? Would the reinstatement of penis inspection warrant safe, consensual, fun penis inspections for all? Only time will tell.

Dear Donna: Sound Advice for Life's Ins and Outs

Recruit #2516-8==D

Dear Donna,

I have been a dedicated reader of your column for upwards of three decades and I can think of no one better to turn to in the quandary that I've found myself. I am a president of sorts at a well respected educational institution in the San Diego area. My job and sole purpose has always been to nurture young minds, but I fear that my own fleshly desires have betrayed me and in turn I have permanently corrupted not only myself and my marriage, but the young men that I have been entrusted with. I admit that I have always enjoyed basketball, and not only for the sport. The way these players move is...arousing to say the least. The tension began when I would sit in on their practices weekly. I told myself that I was there to support the school's athletics. #23 would ogle the way my hips move in my tan pantsuit in the Viejas arena, and slowly the other young men began to notice as well.... Shamefully I spent hours at the Liz Claiborne outlet searching for slacks that gripped my ass in the most subtle but provocative manner. I enjoyed their attention too much in hindsight.

Perhaps it does not matter how long we held gazes across the arena, or how #10 brushed his hand against mine, smirking knowingly as I returned the ball to him after fate rolled it towards my fold out chair. What does matter is the way I let each one of them bend me over and enter me in the locker room. An entire team of men, taking turns pleasing me at my command. They were like soldiers, battling against my unquenchable lust. Although my pants dampen at the thought, and I yearn for more as I know they do too, I have abused my authority. Them; young and impressionable Aztecs, I; irresistible and in the prime of womanhood. I feel my soul being crushed under the weight of my guilt and shame. I wanted to guide their journeys towards a prestigious education. Instead I've taught them how to weaken my knees and make my clitoris throb. God, they are good students in that regard. Oh, Donna, what do I do? I can barely look my husband in the eyes, let alone enter my workplace with my head held high. Can I ever recover from my transgression?

Sincerely,

De la Torren To Pieces

Dear De la Torren to Pieces,

Sexuality is meant to be explored, not stifled! Women in positions of power often enjoy domination, I know I do. However, in my experience football players have bodies that are much more suited to a good pounding. You know that Donna tells it like it is, and I say play the field! Let them dribble their balls all the way down your court, girl! What better way to get to know your students? As long as all parties are consenting, of age, and using protection (I don't mean helmets, either!). Then all is fair in love and war. Who knows, maybe you could extend the invitation to your husband, he may be more open minded than you think. For further advice, I encourage you to send a more detailed description of the event to my private email, DonnasDTF@hotmail.com. Keep in touch!

Donna
